

Commuter rail

Approved by voters in 2004, the commuter rail will begin running on pre-existing tracks starting in 2008. The rail, which will run from downtown Austin to downtown Leander, will make one of its stops at Braker Lane and Burnet Road.

Phase two and beyond

Phase one of The Domain is just a preview of what's to come. In the next 12 years the area is slated to host apartments and hotels along with additional retail stores and offices.

IBM's current operations

The majority of IBM's campus has moved across the street from the old manufacturing plant on the other side of Burnet Road. IBM continues to leave a building in Endeavor's Domain area.
